Get Ready For a Great Annual Convention!

By Skip Mollica, General Chairman

We would like to invite everyone - dentists, staff, and family to the 139th Annual Convention of the SCDA. We have been charged with exploring a new venue, as our meeting grows in numbers and more space is needed. This year we will be at the beautiful Sheraton Convention Center Hotel in Myrtle Beach and the convention will begin on Thursday, April 24, so mark your calendars. The Sheraton will provide us with a new and spacious hotel and meeting facility. The rooms are new and refreshing. The lecture halls which are connected to the hotel are spacious and immediately adjacent to the exhibit hall. The exhibit hall will have a CyberCafé and a beach music DJ spinning tunes and giving away prizes during the lunch hours. You will be able to get lunch within the exhibit hall enabling you to enjoy the music and visit the vendors during the break. You may go to www.myrtlebeachconventioncenter.com and view the hall and lecture rooms. At www.sheraton.com/MyrtleBeach you can take a virtual tour of the hotel rooms, facilities and restaurants. Both center and hotel are great five-star types of facilities.

Hats off to Dr. David Watson, who has put together a great continuing education program. Our speakers on Thursday will be Dr. Van Haywood, a professor in the Department of Oral Rehabilitation at the School of Dentistry at MCG, on "State of the Art Bleaching". Dr. Haywood has more than 90 publications on the nightguard vital bleaching technique and the topic of bleaching and esthetics and the first papers on treating bleaching sensitivity with potassium nitrate. Bob Gray, a nationally known, entertaining speaker who is listed in the Guinness Book of World Records, will speak on how to increase your memory-"I'm No Good With Names.... But I Never Forget a Face." In addition, Atlanta Dental is sponsoring a "Technology Day" from "Planning Your High-Tech Dental Office" and Today's Technology: Keys to Reducing Staff Stress, Improving Patient Care and Enhancing Practice Success to Cone Beam Technology.

Dr. Van Haywood

Dr. John Kois

Friday will showcase Char Sweeney, who has been involved in dentistry since 1979 both clinically and administratively. She has presented lectures at the ADA, the Hinman, the Yankee Dental Conference, and the Masters of Australia just to mention a few. For the business aspect of dentistry she will host morning and afternoon sessions on "The Ten Latest Trends in Practice Management" and "The Four steps to Commitment for Dentists, Staff and Patients". Dr. John Kois received his DMD degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a Certificate in Periodontal Prosthodontics with a MSD degree from the University of Washington. He practices in the Tacoma/Seattle area and is an affiliate professor in the graduate Restorative Program at the U. of Washington. He will enhance your understanding and increase your knowledge of "Functional Occlusion I: Science Driven Management".

The meeting concludes with a busy Saturday. The Young Dentists and Dental Students won't want to miss Dr. John Gammichia on

Dr. John Gammichia

“The First Five Years, The Wondering Years. What They Didn’t Teach you in Dental School.” Dr. Gammichia is in private practice in Orlando, Florida and has written numerous articles and given lectures nationally on the trials and tribulations of being a young dentist. Dr. John Burgess returns from last year’s session to present a limited attendance, hands-on course on “Adhesive Restorations”. He is currently the assistant dean for clinical research at the University of Alabama Birmingham and, also a consultant to the ADA’s Council on Scientific Affairs. He has published more than 300 articles, abstracts and textbook chapters. We also have the opportunity to proudly present some of our own colleagues. Dr. Chris Campbell of Columbia will give a lecture and participatory course on “Dental Photography”. Chris finished dental school at MUSC in ’98 and then followed with a GP Residency at Palmetto Health Richland. He has spoken statewide on digital photography for the dental professional. Dr. Tom Trinkner, also, of Columbia, with dental ceramist Matt Roberts will speak on “Developing Advanced Clinical Skills and Communication for the Doctor and Ceramist”. Tom finished at the Ohio State University College of Dentistry in 1983. He was the first South Carolina dentist to be awarded Accredited Member status by the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry for Excellence in the Art and Science of Cosmetic Dentistry and is an associate teacher at the L.D. Pankey Institute. The hygienists will want to hear periodontists Dr. J. Eric Hamrick and Dr. Ryan Voelkert, both of Greenville, present “Periodontal Concepts for the Dental Hygienist”. Eric attended MUSC for his dental degree and the University of Alabama Birmingham for his Periodontal training. Ryan attended MUSC and also received his degree in Periodontics there. Both have given many CE courses and presentations to dentists and hygienists throughout the state. Dr. Charles Hook, past Professor of Operative and General Dentistry at MUSC, graciously, will give us his entertaining OSHA update. There will be a Basic Life Support recertification and certification course and a course on the “Legal Issues for the Dental Practice”. The Committee is excited about this year’s convention and takes pride in presenting an agenda for all to enjoy and to learn. So come and get all your continuing education, enjoy the fellowship and the Grand Strand with all its entertainment, restaurants and shopping that you’ve become accustomed. See you in April!

Myrtle Beach Convention Center Offers New Possibilities

The 2008 Annual Session Committee has gone to great lengths to present the caliber of meeting that South Carolina dentists appreciate. The decision to move the meeting to the Myrtle Beach Convention Center and the premier Sheraton Hotel occurred with this same meticulous preparation. The SCDA hopes that the Convention Center will offer the best facility for our meeting.

Since this is a change of venue for our Myrtle Beach meeting, it is appropriate to highlight some of the many pluses for this site. The attractive and well appointed Sheraton Myrtle Beach Hotel is connected to the spacious Convention Center. A short walk will lead attendees to the Center and the exhibit floor. The Sheraton offers many amenities available in all upscale hotels. Known for its "seven-layer feather bedding", the Sheraton has a reputation for well appointed rooms and enjoyable dining at Vidalia's Restaurant.

As before, a block of rooms are reserved for the SCDA guests who register for the Annual Session. Reservations may be made by calling the hotel at 1-800-325-3535 and mentioning that you are with the SCDA convention.

Rates for a standard room with double occupancy are $175.00 per night plus assorted taxes and resort lodging fees. Room rates are available through March 25, 2008 or until the block of rooms are sold out. There are a limited number of one bedroom suites available at a different rate.

The exhibit floor will be unique in that it is one of the few South Carolina facilities large enough to allow exhibitors to display the bigger meeting structures. The mix of businesses that will participate should benefit from the ability to drive onto the floor, set up, and depart more easily than at Kingston. The location of the Exhibit Hall is very convenient to the lecture halls. And the Convention Committee has gone to great lengths to schedule time for attendees to visit our dental suppliers.

SCDA Mission Statement

The South Carolina Dental Association is an association of dentists organized to provide optimal oral health to all citizens in the State of South Carolina through the promotion and the improvement of the art and science of dentistry.

The "A" Word...

Last month I wrote an article about amalgam collectors for the office. The prompt was a recommendation to install these devices as part of a best practices protocol from the ADA. As you can imagine, there are few offices that currently use the system. We as dental offices are low on the totem pole for environmental impact. But we are an easy target, and the cross hairs are aligned. By coincidence, there have been a number of amalgam articles that have come across my desk. Some read like tabloid headlines.

Norway Bans Dental Amalgam!

Norway has acted in the New Year to discontinue the use of dental amalgam. The action was part of a sweeping effort to restrict the use of mercury and was done so largely for environmental reasons. It is possible that Sweden may have taken a similar action. No new scientific studies or other new data have been cited as calling for this sweeping action. The ban is not expected to have any economic impact in these countries because of their national health care systems. Sweden's health care system stopped paying for amalgam fillings years ago. In both countries, the purported availability of viable alternative materials was cited as support of the action.

LA Times Publishes Concern About Cremation and Mercury

During cremation, the mercury in the amalgam is released "up the stack". There are three primary approaches to this issue: remove restored teeth prior to cremation, install expensive pollution control devices on the crematoria, or take no action. So far, the third has prevailed. The Times story dealt with a local effort in Colorado to require crematoria operators to take some action. This isn't the first time the issue has come up, as scattered local governments across the country have raised the issue. The ADA has had ongoing conversations with the National Funeral Directors Association and will continue to monitor this issue.

SC DHEC to Test Residents for Mercury?

In a January 11 article in The State newspaper a headline stated that "Officials to Consider Testing S.C. Residents for Mercury." The article stated that health officials have discussed testing mercury levels in people as concerns about growing levels of the pollutant in state waters has led to warning signs at boat landings in South Carolina. A similar article from Charleston's Post and Courier identified people who eat fish from several local rivers had high levels of mercury in their bodies.

A follow-up statement was released by DHEC stating that the state agency was not ready to test Lowcountry residents just yet. However, doctors in the Pee Dee have begged for this process to proceed. Regulators will begin a detailed look at the mercury problem to see if human testing is worthwhile. The metal taints some fish in about 60 state waterways and the ocean. Some Lowcountry residents rely on the fish to feed their families. In the past, DHEC has issued health advisories about contaminated fish and will begin posting waterways with warning signs. But it hasn't determined how mercury affects people who eat the fish.

Now What?

As you can only imagine, dentists will soon be assaulted with myriad concerns about silver fillings. And whether you place or remove amalgam restorations, you will likely have a challenge in the future. The ADA closely monitors all of these activities. Most concerns are based upon incomplete studies. There is a new restorative materials brochure and a short summary available for free download on the American Dental Association website (www.ada.org).

Say What!#?

Think that these concerns won't affect you? In a related development, the Philadelphia City Council has voted to require the City Department of Public Health to develop a mandatory patient brochure, which dentists in the city will have to provide at least once to each patient before restorative work is done.

Hometown Heroes, the Series

I am beginning a series of articles that recognize South Carolina's Dental Hometown Heroes. These are individuals who contribute much to the Palmetto state's quality of health and community. This series is designed to coordinate with the launch of the EdVenture and SCDA display for National Children's Dental Health. I invite my readers to contact me at PhilES48@aol.com if there is a deserving dentist, dental team member or group who you see as an SCDA Hometown Hero.

From the 5th to the 15th century A.D., dentistry was practiced by “barber-surgeons,” who performed a variety of services, including cutting hair and extracting teeth.

President's Message

Dr. Carter Brown
President

February is always an important month for dentistry. It is National Children's Dental Health Month (NCDHM). This is an opportunity to focus on what parents should know and do to take care of their children's oral health. The parents after all are the number one oral health care individual for the children. We also instruct the children on healthy habits and homecare, but without the buy-in of the parents and the family as a whole, the results fall way short.

We are using NCDHM to reach the families, especially of those children who don't yet have a Dental Home. We are sponsoring a traveling exhibit from the National Dental Museum at EdVenture in Columbia during February, March and April. We want to reach the tens of thousands of children who will come through the exhibit and the dental room, but also reach the adults and family members that are attending as well.

We have also created a professional display that we want to have available for you to use around the state. Dr. Will MacDonald will use it first in Charleston at the new children's museum. We want to see this used at events, in the malls, at churches, wherever you think we can make a difference. The initial display is targeted at kids, but will be done in several versions. We will have it at the Annual Convention for you to see.

Dr. Rocky Napier is heading up NCDHM for South Carolina this year. He wants you to create local activities that will add to the effort and let him know about what you are doing. We are proud of the many ADA Samuel D. Harris Awards we have won from the ADA for the best NCDHM in the country and would like for us to WOW them in Chicago this year.

February is also the time for Give Kids A Smile. Each year the event expands and provides dentists a chance to give back in a structured way. The community wins from the more than $250,000 in comprehensive care provided by the event. The secondary effect is the educational opportunity for the families to learn how to stay healthy. It also gives us a public forum to show our commitment to help and the need that is out there. We also know that many of you give back all year long in your private practices and by volunteering in clinics, etc., but this is done in private. Those who say dentistry is not caring don't ever include those private actions.

Just as in the political races, perception is reality. The dental profession is judged by the limited knowledge the public is fed by news accounts, agenda driven advocates, and personal experiences. Our participation in NCDHM, GKAS, and other public screening, oral health education venues, and advocacy for the rights of all South Carolinians to have the best comprehensive oral health care is critical to keeping the true story of dentistry front and center.

The new display is a first step to creating a year-long Oral Health Literacy push for the state. We can't be around one month a year anymore. We need your help with ideas for Oral Health Literacy (contact me wcarterbrownmd@mindspring.com) and for any other community based activities contact Rocky Napier, and for any Public Relations ideas or media contacts tell Jeff Gardner.

A reminder about the Annual Meeting: it is a week earlier this year— April 23 thru 26— and will be at the Myrtle Beach Convention Center, right at Broadway at the Beach. The House of Delegates will be on Thursday afternoon. Based on surveys this looks like a more member friendly time and day. You will have the business part of the weekend over earlier and can enjoy the rest of the meeting without rushing on Sunday.

"Our participation in NCDHM, GKAS, and other public screening, oral health education venues, and advocacy for the rights of all South Carolinians to have the best comprehensive oral health care is critical ..."

WANT TO SAVE MONEY ON PAYROLL TAXES IN 2008?

Premium Conversion or Premium-Only Plan (POP) Administration

What Is It?

A premium conversion plan or premium-only plan (POP) provides for tax-exempt treatment of premium contributions to certain benefit plans, resulting in tax savings for the employer and participating employees. The types of benefit plans that can be included in POP are medical, accident, & health (including cancer), group term life up to $50,000, vision, dental, and disability.

Why Is This Important?

IRS Section 125 considers pretax premium contribution dollars as employer dollars for tax purposes. As a result, your total taxable payroll is reduced by the amount of the employee salary reduction premium contributions. A reduced payroll results in lower payroll related taxes. When employees' taxable wages are decreased, the employees' salary base is decreased and the employer pays less in FUTA/FICA taxes. The amount of savings is dependent upon total company payroll and how much employees contribute toward their benefits, but a company of any size can implement a POP and save money. The same kinds of savings are available to every employee who makes a contribution toward their insurance benefits. Because employees reduce their taxable incomes by the amount of their premium contributions, they pay less income, and Social Security taxes, and actually could increase their take-home pay.

What does it cost?

Nothing! Colonial provides the Section 125 Premium Only Plan and enrollment support at no cost for Colonial customers. Enhance your benefits package while reducing both employer and employee taxes - all at no cost. This is another way to combat rising health care costs and provide greater overall value in your employee benefits plan. Let Colonial show you how to do this by contacting Sean Hart (803) 463-7338.

Executive Director's Notes

WHAT SHOULD I DO?

The first day back in the office after the holidays, I received a phone call from a member asking what he should do since his office had been broken into and the computers stolen. The dentist had gotten the local authorities involved, but he was very concerned about what might have been accessed on the stolen hard drives. I immediately contacted our lawyers to seek their advice and learned that South Carolina does not have an actual law instructing anyone what to do if such an incident occurs. The advice was to have the dentist contact each patient and let them know what had occurred.

I followed up with the American Dental Association lawyers and confirmed that SC does not have such a law, however, there is a bill pending in our House of Representatives that addresses loss of personal information. The proposed law is similar to most of the breach notification laws and would require a dentist to provide notice to his or her patients in the event the information was lost or the computer stolen.

Although the proposed law hasn't passed, it is suggested that you still should notify your patients if you ever encounter such an incident within your practice. You may be asking yourself, "If I am able to retrieve the computers, how do I know if information has been accessed on a hard drive?" You can take the computer to a technician who could forensically examine it and ascertain if and when data in the computers was accessed.

I hope none of you will ever have to go through such a situation, but in case, hopefully this information will be a guide for you.

Mr. Phil Latham
Executive Director

"...as of January 11, 2008, 420 dentists still had not registered their NPI number(s) to SCDHHS."

MEDICAID

Recently, the SCDA Medicaid Committee met and learned from the representatives at the Department of Health and Human Services (SCDHHS) that effective March 1, 2008, SCDHHS will discontinue acceptance of only the legacy Medicaid Provider ID number. You must begin to use your National Provider Identification (NPI) number. A bulletin was sent regarding this news. This is nothing new as both the SCDA and SCDHHS have been educating the provider community for some time.

Do note that the SCDA Medicaid Committee also learned that as of this past Friday, January 11, 2008, 420 dentists still had not registered their NPI number (s) to SCDHHS. This too is a requirement and must be done before March 1, 2008. To report your NPI number to DHHS please visit <https://secure.dhhs.state.sc.us/npi/index.asp>

CONVENTION – APRIL 23-26, 2008

The SCDA staff and I visited the Myrtle Beach Convention Center in January to meet with the hotel and convention staff regarding the SCDA annual meeting. Although I have been by the convention center several times, I had never been inside.

The Convention Committee hit a homerun with this selection. The facility, if I can use the expression my kids use all the time now is ... COOL !!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Please mark your calendars now. Note the dates as they are earlier than normal. Visit the SCDA website for more information and make plans to attend the 139th SCDA Annual Convention.

Dental Auxiliary Scholarships

The SCDA Foundation received nominations for dental auxiliary scholarships. These nominations are based solely on the students financial need and academic performance. One scholarship is available for each dental assisting and dental hygiene program at each of the state's technical colleges. The Dental Auxiliary Scholarship program started in 1989 and an average of a dozen scholarships have been granted each year.

The Foundation made its final decisions and scholarship checks in the amount of $400 each were mailed to the winners (listed below). Congratulations!
