Giving Back to Our Members

By J. David Moss, DMD

Dr. David Moss

It is always the goal of every organization and association to be good stewards of finances. From top to bottom, SCDA has been exceedingly cognizant of where and how dues and other revenues are spent. This has been very apparent as it relates to our Annual Session. As you may know, several years ago the Annual Session was removed from the general budget of SCDA and placed in a special category with a starting budget each year of $25,000. As the various districts sponsor their meeting once every four years, the convention committees plan to be sure that they end up with that $25,000 to provide the subsequent district with its starting budget.

The truth is that each of the recent conventions has done more than just return their beginning funds. Indeed, each year has ended up in the black. As these funds have accumulated, your Board decided to explore a way to give a benefit to the members who attend the Annual Session. While several ideas got discussed, the Board decided on a plan that would give something back to member and vendor alike.

Thus, you are being introduced to a "voucher" program at the 2014 Annual Session on a trial basis. As discussed and passed at the December House of Delegates, each paid dentist attendee will be eligible to receive a voucher worth $100 that can be spent on orders placed on the exhibit floor. The vendors are excited about the idea of the voucher plan. The vast majority of exhibitors will accept the voucher, but even those that may not be able to accept it will benefit from an increase in floor traffic at the meeting.

Each registered dentist will need to stop by the SCDA registration booth at the meeting to receive a personalized voucher. It will not be included in your pre-registration packet. You will also receive a list of exhibitors that accept the voucher. Please note that the voucher must be used for a purchase on the exhibit floor. Once the meeting concludes, the voucher will be void.

We have a really wonderful meeting planned for you from May 1 – 4 at Kingston Plantation in Myrtle Beach. There are speakers for all, both clinical and non-clinical. Your convention committee and I will be bringing you more information as the time approaches. So when you receive your meeting information, go ahead and sign up for our last meeting in Myrtle Beach for several years.

Emerging Concepts in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Chronic Pain

Dr. Theresa S. Gonzales

Columbia Conference Center
169 Laurelhurst Avenue (Near Harbison)
Columbia, SC 29210

Speaker

Dr. Theresa Gonzales is a Professor of Oral Pathology and the Director of Orofacial Pain Management at the Medical University of South Carolina- James B. Edwards College of Dental Medicine. She has authored over fifty scientific publications in peer-reviewed journals and was the recipient of the International College of Dentists Award for Excellence in Research.

Dr. Gonzales retired last summer as a full Colonel from the United States Army Dental Corps after a long and distinguished career. Most recently, she was the Director of Strategic Communications for the Army Surgeon General, Lt. Gen. Horoho. Colonel Gonzales commanded units in Europe and the United States. Prior to her commands, she served as Director of Orofacial Pain Management and a Staff Oral and Maxillofacial Pathologist at Tripler Army Medical Center in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Dr. Gonzales graduated Magna Cum Laude from the College of Charleston with a B.S. in Chemistry and received her D.M.D. from the Medical University of South Carolina. She began her military career at Fort Jackson, South Carolina as a resident in the Advanced Education in General Dentistry program. She then completed a residency training program in oral and maxillofacial pathology in 1992 at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda. In 2006, she completed a two-year fellowship in Orofacial Pain at the Naval Postgraduate Dental School and completed a Master of Science in Health Care from George Washington University in Washington, DC.

Summary

Chronic orofacial pain is relatively common with approximately 7% of the general population reporting such symptoms which concomitantly occur with other somatic symptoms that cannot be adequately explained by known organic pathology. One of the major factors that lead a patient with a short-term problem into developing a chronic pain syndrome is the lack of adequate recognition and treatment of the whole problem during the first few months of pain. Thus, in order to prevent development of a chronic pain syndrome, a patient needs to be managed comprehensively from the beginning. Criteria for making this decision include factors such as long duration of pain, overuse of medication, the presence of disturbance, potential for secondary gain, gross confusion, and significant parafunctional habits. Potential barriers to implementing this evaluation and management system in clinical practice may include dentists' or physicians' reluctance to deal with behavioral and psychosocial aspects of illnesses, hesitation to add a team approach to their busy individual practices, or lack of motivation to integrate a self-care philosophy to their concepts of disease management.

Objectives

- * Describe the anatomy and physiology of nociception within the peripheral and central nervous system.
- * Differentiate the basic categories of pain syndromes.
- * Explain the concept of pain as a biopsychosocial disorder.
- * Discuss roles of rehabilitation in pain management.
- * Describe methods for assessing pain in pediatric patients.
- * Discuss ethical standards in pain management and research.
- * Discuss methods of assessing outcomes of pain treatment and describe common assessment tools.
- * List the common mechanisms of peripheral nerve injury and describe the changes which occur in an injured nerve.
- * Medical management of patients with trigeminal neuralgia, trigeminal neuropathic pain, and non-odontogenic facial pain.

16th District Trustee Update

By Dr. Hal Fair, 16th District Trustee

Dr. Hal Fair

The meeting began on Thursday, for some of us, as the second-year Trustees joined the new Trustees for their orientation. The second-year Trustees were there to give perspective and insight to the first-year group. The Board is fortunate to have a great new Trustee class, very engaged and very eager to perform the duties of The Board. The new class consists of Red Stevens, Alabama; Jeff Cole, Delaware; Andy Kwasny, Pennsylvania; Gary Jeffers, Michigan and Second VP Jonathan Shenkin of Maine. Participants were again asked to fill out a survey so that the orientation can continue to be improved from year to year.

Saturday was a busy day during which our standing committees met to begin their work for the year. The work formed the basis for many of our later discussions on audit, financial, compensation, governance and strategic planning issues. I would like to acknowledge Bob Plage and Ted Sherwin who serve on the Audit and Finance Committee respectively as HOD members. Their contribution and insight are invaluable.

On Sunday, we took an in-depth look into our draft strategic plan, Members First 2020. Council chairs and co-chairs were invited to the session. This was a tremendous opportunity for collaboration for volunteer leaders from the councils, committees, commissions and ADA staff. The Strategic Planning Steering Committee did a great job presenting this strategic session. As a result of these discussions, the Steering Committee now has guidance to further develop the draft plan.

On Monday morning, as a part of the BOT's oversight responsibility, we heard a report from Jim Mercer, the chair of ADABEI. The ADA's for profit arm is performing above budget in revenue and below budget in expenses. ADABEI continues to increase the diversity of its revenue streams and plans to continue that effort into the coming year.

We discussed the need to improve alignment across the tripartite. This is an integral part of the future of our new strategic plan. We learned that alignment is not the same as integration, which could be viewed as a loss of autonomy by constituents. Alignment is based on trust and involves the tripartite moving forward together in the same general direction toward common goals. It is clear that the Board is unified in recognizing the need for alignment in order to reverse the recent membership trends.

Alignment will improve member experience and all efforts must be member centered. All constituents and component societies need to recognize the importance of alignment and work in full partnership with the ADA on these efforts. Communication will be the key to these efforts and will be important to our success. We all need to be flexible in our communication and change as the discussions continue. One suggestion is to use the words "shared partnership to better serve the member", instead of "alignment" which may be a threat to tripartite autonomy. This shared partnership will involve many dimensions, such as branding, technology, member service, member value and more. However, the most important aspect of this partnership is TRUST-trust between all aspects of the tripartite.

The Council on Members Insurance and Retirement Plans is continuing its work on improving member value. The council is looking into a web portal our members can use to navigate options under the Affordable Care Act. Subsequently, earlier this month, the council did recommend to the Board that we move forward with this recommendation and via a BOT conference call the Board, after much discussion, voted to move forward with the councils recommendation. You will hear more about this decision in the near future.

The Board also discussed the issue of specialty recognition and the fact that other organizations and groups are beginning to move in this direction. What is the risk to the ADA, can they bypass state laws and practice acts, and will there be law suits? These were some of the questions asked and discussed. Dr. Ziebert presented some valuable background information and we will continue to monitor this situation.

The Board also discussed the need for greater continuity in our representation on the Dental Quality Alliance. The Board urged councils with DQA representation to consider succession planning for that representation.

The Board also enjoyed meeting and having lunch with the current class of the Diversity Institute. The Institute continues to be a visible commitment of the ADA to fostering leadership growth and membership within diverse populations. The Board has recommended increasing the class size in the future.

And now, on a somber note, I would ask that you all join me in expressing my condolences and heartfelt sorrow to Terry Dickinson in the loss of his son, Kevin.

Respectfully,
Hal

Why I participate in organized dentistry?

"One of the penalties for refusing to participate in politics is that you end up being governed by your inferiors" -Plato. I find this statement to be a good representation of why I choose to participate in organized dentistry. By becoming involved, I have experienced rewarding interactions with my friends and co-workers, had the opportunity to travel to new and interesting places, and gained immeasurable knowledge that makes me not only a better dentist, but a better friend, husband, and father.

What have I gained from organized dentistry?

I have gained collaboration with fellow colleagues and learned a great deal of information from the inner workings of various dental groups. Additionally, my leadership skills have further developed and my overall confidence in my practice grown. One of the most important gains from participating in organized dentistry was the opportunity to meet my wife Katie. We first met while serving as representatives from our respective colleges on Student Government at MUSC. Eight years later, we are happily married and enjoy all of our free moments away from work with our son.

Zirconia has proven to be a material that is strong enough to utilize in various clinical situations - we have successfully fabricated crown and bridge frameworks up to 10 units, crowns, inlays, onlays, and implant abutments. In looking for an alternative to full gold cast crowns in the molar and bicuspid region, or in cases where there is limited occlusal space, we have discovered that zirconia is a terrific option. Executive Director's Notes

Mr. Phil Latham

I had a unique experience this past week as the Executive Director's of each state were invited to attend the American Dental Association's (ADA) President-Elects Conference. To my knowledge, this is the first time both groups have come together to meet and discuss the issues that affect us all. Despite temperatures well below zero and snow piled high, the meetings were very informative and provided great information which President Elect Dr. Pipkin and myself can use to help carry your Association forward.

The big effort at the ADA for 2014 will be membership. Percentages are dropping overall and in many states. This causes great concern, because if the market share continues to decrease, the ADA may become non relevant. In South Carolina, we are currently at a market share of 80.9% and that is in the upper tier according to the ADA. The biggest reason for our recent growth is due to the work of our Membership Director, Maie Brunson. She does a great job contacting and following up with those potential new members. She offers a helping hand to all who call and request services.

As the ADA and others states will be looking to increase their market shares in 2014, I believe that SCDA's can be even higher, maybe 85 to 90 percent. To reach that percentage, we all need to agree to some changes. Your Membership Committee, SCDA Board and Bylaws Committee plan to bring some bylaws changes to the December House of Delegates that would streamline the membership process within the SCDA so that we can be more nimble to complete the membership process of one joining and get them the benefits from both the ADA and the SCDA as quickly as possible. The Districts too, will have to agree and adopt those same changes on their level.

During the conference we also heard from Marko Vujicic who analyzing data for the ADA. The numbers he projects can sound gloomy, but opportunities are there. The face of dentistry will be changing in these next 5 to 10 years. The question is will we embrace that change or not?

The legal Council, representatives from AdPAC, and several other guests speakers provided additional information that will help guide the SCDA into the future.

The SCDA will need everyone on board to continue to advance your Association into 2020 and beyond and we do not have all the answers here at the SCDA office. Please feel free to contact any of the staff and let us know what is on your mind. What issues would you like us to research? What would you like to see done? We cannot promise to do everything you ask, but we do promise to listen and give strong consideration to your thoughts and ideas.

Although I brought back a lot of information from Chicago, one quote from the great Socrates has stuck with me that I believe we should all keep in mind:

"The secret of change is to focus all of your energy, not on fighting the old, but on building the new."

Speaker

Dr. David M. Hicklin

Dr. Hicklin is originally from the Spartanburg region and has family ties in the Greenville area. He graduated from Furman University in 2002 with a B.S. degree in Chemistry and concluded his undergraduate studies at the Medical University of South Carolina School of Dentistry in 2006. Following dental school, Dr. Hicklin completed a hospital based general practice residency program at Palmetto Health Richland Hospital in Columbia, SC and has remained there as Faculty and now Program Director for the General Practice Residency in Dentistry for the past 7 years. He has attained Fellowship Status with the Academy of General Dentistry. The focus of his practice and personal interest in dentistry include treatment of the special needs patients, dental implants, complex restorative cases and the unique intricacies of hospital dentistry. Dr. Hicklin has lectured across SC on topics related to hospital dentistry, dental trauma, and dental implant therapy. His professional affiliations include the American Dental Association, the Academy of General Dentistry, the South Carolina Dental Association, Greater Columbia Dental Association, the Academy of Osseointegration, Special Care Dentistry, and the American Society of Dental Anesthesiology.

The Piedmont District Dental Society (Provider #212440) is a locally approved AGD PACE Provider (approval dates: 08/01/2012 – 07/31/2015).

WHICH BROKERAGE FIRM IS TRULY LOOKING OUT FOR YOUR INTERESTS WHEN SELLING YOUR PRACTICE?

Dual-Representation Brokerage Firms?

Dental Supply Companies Who Also Act As Brokers?

Your Accounting Firm Who Offers Brokerage Services?

Is it a dual-rep brokerage firm? NO You cannot serve two masters. Dual-rep firms charge buyers hefty fees, and as a result, their strategies usually negatively affect the final selling price and/or terms the owners agree to when selling. In addition, if a buyer has to choose between two similar practices- where one requires a substantial fee to a dual-rep firm, and the other does not- which practice and brokerage firm will they choose?

Is it the equipment/supply companies who are also brokering practices? NO In most cases, the owner is selling and retiring. The supply companies want to please the buyer in order to gain or retain their business post-closing. Whatever the terms, their priority is to get the deal done in order to pick up the buyer as a new client, at whatever cost to the seller.

Is it your accounting firm that also owns a practice brokerage company? NO This could be the biggest conflict of interest that exists. Sellers look to their accountants for advice asking, “Is the price or tax structure acceptable?” Will the accountant advise their client against a “bad” deal if a large commission is on the line to their firm, or to a brokerage company they are partners with or are profiting from?

Is it the firm that has successfully represented sellers for over a decade? YES
NATIONAL PRACTICE TRANSITIONS has represented hundreds of sellers over the past ten years in the sale of their dental practices. We work diligently for our clients to maximize practice value while structuring the sale to minimize tax liabilities, but at the same time creating a fair and equitable transition for the buyers. In fact, we have a 100% success rate post-closing; meaning that we have never had a buyer default or fail. We emphasize to buyers the importance of having separate representation and we work hand-in-hand with their advisors to successfully complete the transaction.

How would an oral surgeon and prosthodontist view apnea? Snoring? Sleep appliances?

Breathing Easy: Approaches to Evaluate and Manage OSA with Confidence

Presented by: Betsy K. Davis, DMD, MS and Kelly S. Lybrand, DDS

This discussion of obstructive sleep apnea will include a review of relative anatomy, risk factors, and current hypothesis surrounding the pathophysiology of the condition. Diagnostic considerations will be reviewed including pertinent aspects of the clinical examination as well as necessary studies and diagnostic adjuncts. The spectrum of treatments available for OSA will be reviewed from surgical intervention to nonsurgical therapy such as oral appliance fabrication. The objective of this discussion will be to update the clinician on current thinking relative to OSA and provide clinical relevance for the dental professional.

How Efficient Was Your Business in 2013?

By Mark Brown

Mr. Mark Brown

So how efficient was your business in 2013? This is the time of year I like to review the previous calendar year numbers for a comparison to that of preceding years to see where improvements were made and where more attention needs to be placed moving forward. If you're anything like me you have probably already concluded a similar exercise within your practice. Having said this how did your accounts receivables look at the end of 2013?

Now may be a good time to make sure your accounts receivables process is running at an optimal level for the 2014 year to ensure you are collecting on the valuable services you provide within your community. TekCollect will provide a free analysis to ensure you are using Best Practices. They want to help you retain patients, so all efforts are conducted with integrity, diplomacy and respect.

TekCollect recently added features to existing programs at no additional cost to further enhance results. They are committed to getting results for you and support that with a 400% ROI guarantee! If you are currently a client and want to learn more about these added features give Susan Rackcliff a call at 704.904.2969.

If you are not a client contact Susan Rackcliff for your complementary accounts receivable review and needs analysis. They understand not all practices' needs are the same. You can also check them out at www.SCDA.tekcollect.com.

TekCollect has been the preferred accounts receivables vendor of the SCDA since 2011.

If you have not already joined the SCDA Facebook page you are missing out! We have moved all of our pictures from Shutterfly to our Facebook page.
